DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7, 9 and 15, 17-19, 22, 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brilliant (US 3,309,274).

Brilliant discloses an orally administrable composition having a marker at a sufficient concentration to cause contact coloration of at least a portion of the mucous membrane of an oral cavity (col. 1, lines 36-41, col. 2, lines 23-72, col. 3, lines 1-26, col. 4, lines 9-75 and col. 5, lines 15-26).

With regard to the limitation, "the half-life of said marker being comparable to the half-life of said composition," the dye of the Brilliant composition stains the oral cavity for a period after ingestion of the composition and thus has a half-life "comparable" to the half-life of the composition.

The method steps of claims 1-7, 9 and 28 are inherently performed when the Brilliant composition is utilized to diagnose and treat oral conditions of a patient, such as skin lesions.

Claims 1, 4, 9, 12-15, 17-19 and 22, 23 and 25-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Block et al. (US 3,723,613).

Block et al. disclose an orally administrable composition with multiple markers (FDC Red No. 3, FDC Green No. 3) that cause contact coloration of at least a portion of the mucous membrane of a patient (col. 2, lines 17-24, col. 3, lines 60-68 and col. 4).

With regard to the limitation, "the half-life of said marker being comparable to the half-life of said composition," the dye of the Brilliant composition stains the oral cavity for a period after ingestion of the composition and thus has a half-life "comparable" to the half-life of the composition.

The method steps of claims 1, 4, 9, 12-14 and 28 are inherently performed when the Block et al. composition is utilized for diagnosis and control of plaque deposits (col. 2, lines 38-55).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 8 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brilliant (US 3,309,274).

Brilliant discloses all elements of the claimed invention except for a fluorescent dye such as carmine red.

Carmine red is a well-known fluorescent dye.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have substituted carmine red as a fluorescent pigment for FD&C Red No. 3 in the Brilliant composition, wherein so doing would amount to mere substitution of one functionally equivalent dye for another within the same art and the selection of any of these dyes would work equally well in the claimed invention.

The method steps of claim 8 are rendered obvious by the above discussion.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Block et al. (US 3,723,613) in view of Porter et al. (US 4,643,894).

Block et al. disclose that their composition can be in the form of a chewable tablet, liquid concentrate etc.

It is well known to provide color to tablets by providing color coatings, as evidenced by Porter et al.

Accordingly it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided a color coating to the surface of the Block et al. composition when provided as a tablet or pill since it was well known in the art to provide color to a tablet in the form of a coating.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brilliant (US 3,309,274) in view of Porter et al. (US 4,643,894).

Brilliant discloses that his composition can be in the form of a pellet.

It is well known to provide color to pellets or tablets by providing color coatings, as evidenced by Porter et al.

Accordingly it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided a color coating to the surface of the Block et al. composition when provided as a tablet or pill since it was well known in the art to provide color to a tablet in the form of a coating.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments submitted under "REMARKS" in the response filed on March 24, 2005 with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 10, 11 and 24 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

Art Unit: 3732

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
